

Hazing. ■ ■ it is not just harmless fun!

Just ask anyone who knew

Matt Carrington died in the basement of the Chi Tau Fraternity House on February 2, 2005 during hideous acts of hazing. He was forced to drink from a five-gallon jug of water filled more than five-times and do calisthenics in the frigid sewage infested basement with cold fans blowing on him until this torture caused his brain to swell and heart failure from water intoxication.
